

Big Picture:

Everytime there is a dip in galactic cosmic rays (not paired with the solar system), that indicates an element that is undiscovered. Dark matter elements?